Only, one week now remains in which to do the plosing work of the emupaling. As we have heretofore remarked Malut has a Counte interest in this contest. In common with other States the people of Malog are fully alive to the fight that the prospectty of our business depands the ction of a Republican President. This s no idle assertion, but a statement inhido perfectly clear by the depression already caused by the unwise interference with the arlifatithe last session of the Democratic House of Representatives. If any one doubts it let them read the testimony of a Democratic business man. A report lawlag been eleculated that the Washington Mills Corporation at Lawrence, Mass, was considering the expediency of permanently closing operations, the Boston Journal inquired of one of the stockholders, who is mber of the Committee of Dhectors and Stockholders to which the uniter of disposing of the property was referred, what foundation there was for the report. niwaya been quite active na a Democrat and is not now in sympathy with the Republican party, sald in effect:

The farmer must be more promptly at work in his hoed crops where the land is full-plowed, but corn or po often een late spring-plawed sod which the crop started so slowly that a was nearly mid-opiner, before the latte was large enough to cultivate or hoe. It is only by plawing such land the previous fall that It can be got in shape to produce e erop the following season.

One objection to fall plowing for hoc erops is found in the fact that when the sod is turned over it is somewhat difficu-To dispose of the coarse manure hade du-log water, and which it is the mond prathe of Northern furmers to draw out an plaw under in the spring. Wigons loader with manuro cut deeply, into plowed ground, and there is besides a further diffaulty in getting very coarse manure out-ficiently out of the way if left out a plowed surface. In most cases, however, mancan be taken to this this course in ujust be out mot perhaps to get stock to cat the tinpalatable butta so much as to make the latter less, objectionable in the manus heap, The coarse, strawy parts of the barnyard manureshould be piled up with an equal proportion of horse-droppings, while will heat readily. One or two weeks, even in cold weather, will develop heat enough in these heaps to put the straw in a senirotten condition, and if evenly distributed in the wheter, this manure will break in please with the drag or cultivator the subsequent spring, and be evenly infixed with the surface sell which makes the seed-belt. One idad of manure this applied is worth for the next crop, at least two, saved un spring, then spread and plowed under.

Except on lands Bable to overflow, in nure pay be drawn out on the snow sleds puring whater, with great advantage It should be spread as drawn for if put soull heaps these may suddenly freeze a prevent even aprending until sprin When the ground is bare and frozen, manufe spreader will serie an excelle purpose. Its broad three do not cut deeply into the plowed soll us will those a wagon. So much of the barnyard a fall-plowed land by these methods, it better be composted during the su mer as top-dressing for winter wheat.

There is one crop for which we have, found, fall plowing particularly advantageout; this is potatoes. On fall-ployed look of MAIN STREET geout; this is potatoes. On fall-ployed land, the crop is more vigorous and less to could be soubliness and disease. The sub-in potatoes is generally, if not always, he result of a fungua growth on the potatoe. The first decides is generally, if not always, he caused by decaylog vegetable matter in the soil. In apring-plowed sod, especially if manured, this decay appears to be in ast active while the tubers, are furning and growing. In soil that is fall plowed and growing. In soil that is fall plowed and growing. In soil that is fall plowed and manured, this decay of vegetable matter.
